

Australian Men's Shed Association

SHOULDER TO SHOULDER

It's the wireless you'd listen to if you were in the Shed.

This week:

- We meet the first woman ever to be elected to the Australian Men's Shed Association Board of Directors. Why would she want to do that?
- We also meet the newest member of the AMSA team. She may be a familiar name and yes...she too is a she.
- What might Men's Sheds look like in the future? And what's the magic formula that makes shedding popular everywhere from Tipperary to Tumut? Our international panel will discuss.
- We'll talk about music as medicine — how a good tune can give you a good tune-up.
- And Rip Woodchip gives us a taste of his music collection.

Hosted by Broadcaster Aaron Kearney OAM and AMSA Boss David Helmers

Listen and subscribe with this link podcasts.apple.com/au/podcast/the-shed-wireless-episode-

10/id1510493380?i=1000481727793

Not great with technology? This link is for you mensshed.org/theshedwireless

Send us an email to theshedwireless@mensshed.net

Men's Sheds help with 'Bee Emergency'

A number of Men's Sheds have answered the call to join the Beemergency Project.

So far more than 100 nucleus hives and bee hotels have been built to help bee colonies recover after last summer's dreadful bushfires.

And it's hoped more Sheds will get involved.

Read all about it on The Shed Online

mensshed.org/theshedonline

